BABIES & Moms love us

Our story

begin before we became parents; way before we thought of tender skin, tiny feet, diaper rash and the need to shield the small person who has changed our life forever. One day we stumbled across a research over the Internet that established that just 10% of cancer cases are genetic, while the remaining 90% are induced by day-to-day life. Just think of the fact that every day, we use an average of between 6 and 12 routine products and each of them could contain dozens of toxins and chemicals.

So, we thought: how come? Instead of feeling ran over by these findings with a sense of fear of the future, we began to think and then study in every possible channel the nature of daily products that we consume for our children, compiling a variety of present off-the-shelf products. We have identified a need for an increase of awareness to natural and green products among mothers, especially mothers to babies.

We embarked on a journey, paying attention to each and every product entering our home, resolved to remove products that contain chemicals and other various pollutants that make their way into our children's little and vulnerable body.

We took this insight, and turned it into action and familiar products with an innovative texture and natural scents, thus breaking the boundaries with products that were unknown so far.

Elysium | A healthy world to babies | was founded some three years ago by Neta and Tomer, young parents to Ben (4) and Maya (2.5), who have, out of personal care and general concern, decided to generate innovation, upgrading the variety of babies' beauty, health and hygiene products, aiming at development and manufacture cosmetics, beauty and health for babies and children, creating a cross-family usage experience.

We developed a series of unique beauty, hygiene and health products friendly to humans and the environment as well, combining unique, natural and select components, utilizing pure organic oils, natural herbal extracts, non-allergenic aromatic substance, using natural preservation systems as well as developing modern and pleasant textures and odors.

The trend sweeping through the beauty world these last yeats revolves around the natural, organic and green. They are playing our tune! Following the clear trend, the market for natural beauty and hygiene products for babies and children is growing and nesting itself in the daily consciousness.

The products, developed by cosmetic specialists, are manufactured in Israel, undergoing the harshest inspections and hold all the licenses and comply with all the standards as required in Israel and the US.

All the products underwent SA (Safety Assurance) tests, are safe for use with babies and children and were proven to be particularly effective.

- Certification by the Israeli Ministry of Health - All our products passed all the required inspections and meet the most meticulous standards for baby products.
- Certification by the Ministries of Health and compliance with standards in the US and the EU.
- FDA certifications.

“Elysium has carved on its standard to increase the awareness to use of green and natural products, making the world and the environment cleaner and healthier! We will continue to walk this path and prevail!”

Elysium family

Why Elysium Baby?

We at Elysium Baby believe that our babies deserve a safer world, greener environment and a better place to live. We believe that our babies deserve a world in which they have the freedom to explore, play, smile and laugh, but most importantly they deserve a healthy environment. Elysium Baby's products help us achieve just that. Our philosophy at Elysium Baby is to carefully choose each of our ingredients according to these 3 simple but important rules:

Natural – We do not think there is other option for our babies!

Best Ingredients – We will not settle for less.

Recyclable – We care about the future of our babies.

Elysium Baby products are designed to give us, the parents, peace of mind in knowing we give our babies the best we can. We utilize our best minds and professional tools to not only create products that are natural and safe for our babies, but also to think about us, the moms and dads, and how to make our life easier. Our products are ergonomically designed, easy to use and they get the job done right the first time, every time - so we have more time with our lovely babies.

Elysium Baby is a family company. We love our customers and their opinio. Our customers can really influence how our products will look like in the future. This gives us the edge over other products, as we can be more creative and independent, and stick to our vision to fulfill our customers' needs.

Our other advantages:

- Vegan Friendly badge - our product line hold the vegan badge, were not tested on animal subjects and are user and environmentally friendly.
- Blue and White - Elysium is a 100% Israeli brand that is manufactured in Israel
- A social product - contribution to the community - in our manufacturing and packaging plant, we collaborate with several fellowships that employ adults with disabilities (Shikum association and Ma'as Ashdod)
All our products are adhered and packaged by them, allowing us to help them fit into the labor market.
- National scale deployment of approximately 250 points-of-sale.
- Currently sold in a variety of baby products chains, natural product stores, private pharmacies as well as websites in Israel and around the world!
- The products are also sold by way of Amazon UK and US.
